Wheathampstead Community Library A progress report

Thank you very much to everyone who has volunteered to help run the library. Our first volunteers came forward after a successful public meeting in April. We now have over 30 volunteers but there is always room for more! Training of volunteers is well under way. Everyone has two induction sessions and then a couple of hands-on sessions in the library with a full-time librarian. We will hold coffee mornings for volunteers every month.

An exhibition of the plans for the library to merge with the Fire Station was held on 22 June. The plans are available for viewing in the library.

We had a stall on Village Day which offered information about the library and sold more than 200 books and DVDs – all donated to the library project.

As last year, there will be a Summer Reading Challenge for children which this year is titled Animal Agents. Children will be awarded certificates and medals if they read six library books of their own choice during the summer. They then come to the library and talk to someone about the books they have read.

We plan to be up and running by the autumn. To keep up to date with what's happening, please visit our website: www.wheathampsteadcommunitylibrary.org.uk

To get involved with this great project, please contact Lynn Hall on 07778 645742, Anita Edmond on 07596 954283, email wheathampsteadcommunitylibrary@gmail.com or apply via the website above.

Ring-necked parakeets – a menace

Many of us feed the birds in our gardens because we like to watch them but one bird that we should not be attracting is the ring-necked parakeet. They are non-native, invasive and very noisy, frightening off smaller birds, taking nesting sites, and damaging fruit trees. The increasing numbers and distribution of parakeets is a cause for concern nationally and the RSPB and the Herts and Middlesex Wildlife Trust support the Government strategy to monitor and assess their population trends and potential impact.

Here in the Marshalls Heath Lane and Gustard Wood areas they have more than doubled in numbers since last year and will go on increasing. We should try to stop them reaching the numbers they have in southern England, particularly Surrey, where some roosts contain more than a thousand birds.

Under the Wildlife and Countryside Act of 1981 ring-necked parakeets can be controlled by licensed pest control agencies but, before this drastic action has to be taken, the RSPB suggests that people stop feeding the birds in their gardens for at least three weeks in the hope that this will encourage them to move on and certainly not to nest and breed.

If you want to feed the birds in your garden, the RSPB recommends that you:

- have robust squirrel-proof feeders
- don't use hanging nut bags or cages
- don't leave food open on bird table or ground
- keep any food waste secure.

You can deter the birds from your vegetable garden by using protective netting, or half-full plastic bottles, or CDs hung on sticks.

PLEASE don't encourage these anti-social, non-native and invasive birds into your garden.

St Albans & District Footpaths Society celebrates its 50th Anniversary

The Society was founded in July 1967. We celebrated the anniversary with a walk and a picnic on the Ashridge estate, followed three days later by a party in Wheathampstead, which was attended by the Mayor of St Albans.

Local footpaths were in a very poor state 50 years ago. The Society was set up to improve matters by establishing the routes of all the Rights of Way in the district, clearing them, and making sure they were well signposted. This was very challenging in the early days, involving a lot of hard physical work. A regular weekend walking programme was established and several books of local walks have been produced. Our local footpaths are now much improved and local representatives regularly check them all to make sure they are clear of any obstructions and that signposts are in place. Volunteers also work with HCC to improve our local footpaths network.

The Society now has 180 members and we maintain our original aims. There is a choice of two walks on Thursdays with a longer walk on Sundays; many are in the Wheathampstead area. Local representatives regularly check all footpaths in the area, including Wheathampstead, to make sure they are clear of any obstructions and well signposted.

We would be pleased to welcome new members to our friendly walking groups. For details, please see our website www.stalbansfootpaths.org.

Recycling your food waste has got easier

Residents no longer have to use compostable liners in their food caddies as the way that food waste is treated has recently changed.

This new process means that it no longer matters what type of liners are used for your food waste. Once you run out of biodegradable liners, you can now use carrier bags, bread bags, paper wrappings, or normal bin liners, provided they are not black. Of course, you can continue to use biodegradable bags, if you wish.

Unwrapped food can also be put straight into the caddy. What is important though, is that you do not put any additional packaging into your caddy. For example, if you are clearing out your fridge, please de-package any out-of-date or mouldy food, and recycle the packaging in the appropriate recycling bin.

Find out more information about the waste and recycling scheme at www.stalbans.gov.uk/wasteandrecycling.

You can now report non-emergencies online

We are currently experiencing an increased demand of non-emergency 101 calls to our control room.

Nomansland Nature Quest events

If you were around Nomansland Common in June you might have spotted children from Beech Hyde school scurrying around wearing brightly-coloured tabards. They were involved in the annual Nomansland Nature Quest events, a collaboration between the Woodland Trust and Wheathampstead Parish Council.

The aim is for primary school children to learn about the wildlife of Nomansland and its long and interesting history. The Common was the site of a glacial lake during the last Ice Age. 'Finds' include a Stone Age axe, a Bronze Age spearhead and a hoard of 159 Roman gold coins. History includes inter-monastic strife, the closing phase of the Second Battle of St. Albans in 1461, Katherine Ferrers the disreputable Wicked Lady, prize-fighting, brick-making, horse-racing, an agricultural workers' strike and wartime military encampments.

For wildlife, tracts of woodland to the north are bordered by rare open heathland and the wildflower area to the south, so Nomansland is home to a wide diversity of species. Add to that the expanse of Heartwood that children can explore and the number of things-to-be-seen seems endless.

These outdoor days are made fun and mildly competitive by forming the children into teams. First, they create a dramatic presentation from one of the many scenarios associated with the Common. Then they collect leaves, flowers or grasses and engage in bird-spotting and bug-hunting, followed by building shelters or dens.

The children have a fun and memorable day while learning about the history of Nomansland and its variety of natural assets. They also learn about working in a team, helping one another to achieve the various tasks. But principally it's about making children more aware of our place in the environment and our interdependence with nature.

John Newton-Davies

Wheathampstead businesses - is there something in the water?

Time and again we see examples of our local business community 'punching above their weight'. In the last year we've seen several local businesses being short-listed or winning prestigious business awards, such as:

- Bizhop Luggage
Iain Begg Finalist for "Entrepreneur of the Year" in the SME Herts Business Awards
- Rachel Jeffrey Jewellery
"Best Jewellery Store" in the Muddy Stiletto Award
- The Elephant and Castle
Finalist for Hertfordshire Food & Drink Awards
- Wendy Griffith
"Best Networker" at the Best Business Women Awards.

There is fierce competition out there and local businesses are competing against thousands of others from much larger communities. So why are we doing so well? Could it be that this lovely place attracts some of the best and brightest business people? Maybe WEB's "Buy It Locally" campaign (aka BILLY) has helped to ensure everyone supports their local businesses?

WEB are proud of the local business community and our volunteers continue to support local businesses. So, if you're thinking of starting up a business, I say "go for it" - you'll have the support of WEB all the way.

If you want to find out more about WEB or to access the online directory for all local businesses please visit:

Wheathampstead Scouts

1st Wheathampstead Scout Group would like to thank everyone who donated coins to our Village Day collection for the Money Mile. We managed to cover the whole of the logo and background with copper and silver coins for the first time ever! Along with our Sweet Tombola and Paracord Key Ring making, we raised an amazing £445.07. This will go towards refurbishing the scout hut floor.

We are always looking for help so if you have a few hours spare during the weekday evenings and would like to give some time back into the Community, why not volunteer as a leader with 1st Wheathampstead Scout Group. We are a friendly bunch who would love some extra help within our sections which consist of Beavers, Cubs and Scouts.

For further information on joining our group as a leader or helper please contact our Group Scout Leader Karen Oxley.

Sharing the countryside

Cycling on pathways

Many people love to walk the paths in the countryside; many people love to ride their mountain bikes on paths in the countryside. The problem comes when these loves cause conflict.

There are some rules about who can use which sort of path. It is worth knowing that:

- walkers can use any sort of path
- cyclists and horse-riders can ride on bridleways but should give way to walkers
- cyclists and horse-riders have no right to ride on footpaths

The footbridge and paths on The Meads are not formally designated as footpaths. Cyclists should dismount when using these paths.

Feeding the ducks

And while we are on the subject of sharing, it is safe to assume that nobody wants to share the village with rats. The rats near the footbridge by The Mill are attracted by the bread that people throw to the ducks. Bread that is left on the slabs under the Wellingtonia is gratefully received by the local rats.

There is another important reason not to feed bread to ducks – bread is junk food for ducks. As a source of carbohydrates, it has little nutritional value for them and makes them overweight. Bread-fed ducklings become malnourished; excessive droppings cause disease; the feeding areas become overcrowded causing conflict.

Please DO NOT feed bread to ducks. If you are not convinced, try googling 'feeding bread to ducks' to read what the experts say.
